New Indigenous Journalism and Communication Arts degree is a North American first

Treaty 4 Territoryt Today, First Nations University of Canada (FNUniv) is launching the first 4-year Indigenous journalism and communication degree in North America.

A four-year Bachelor of Arts in Indigenous doublism and Communition Artsblends multimedia training with the study of Indigenous issues and languages.

^dZ PCE]•
$$\mu$$
 vv] P μ } À vCE q μ } U Jacqueline ODEnXann, FNU niv president X ^t v /v] P v } μ • À }] • v % CE•% š] À• š} š o o } μ CE• š} CE]• μ CE š o Ç v CE•% š (μ o o Ç X _

Ottmann also announced extra funding support the program, including $21,000 annuall for

BACKGROUND

What students will learn

The degree comes with a full suite of course offerings, covering topics such as respectful and ethical journalism and communications, multimedia storytelling, colonial and antionial frames, managing media businesses, investigat learning experience in the summer. Through internships and career mentoring, they graduate with career prospects in digital media creation, journalism, social media management, design, among other communications dields.

Every second summer, we offer the CA Summer Institute in Journalis(tNCA 200). INCA 200 is week crast course immersion in all things journalism. All students and interested members of the public are welcome to apply.

Quotes from letters & support for the new degree

```
^ v [• Z]•š}ŒÇ Z • v ]•š}Œš Ç ]v }u‰o š ]v(}Œu š]}vU u]•]v(}Œu š]}v v generation of journalism and communications professionals, FNUniv is creating the conditions for strong, attoteount }ŒP v]l š]}v• v ]u‰Œ}Å ‰ \mu o] vP P u všU \muv Υš v ]vP v ]•]}v•X_ - - ^ Wd E Z • v)š Ç š o ] vÇ}v }((X t PŒ Á ÁZ v }šZ Œ• •ZŒ\muvIX oo \mu• }(š •}\muŒ • ]v v X v šZ u ]v•šŒ u ]• •š]oo u I]vP•‰ š} Œ š]v šZ ]Œ /v ]P v}ÅY • v u‰pos਼ੀ•§econdary education is a must. But with just a diploma, they are far outnumbered by higher (\mu o](] v ] š •Y \muš]( Á v •š Œš Á]šZ Z]PZ Œ (\mu o](] /v ]P v)\mu• v ] š • Peoples hired, earning the experience antitaining higher decisionmaking rolls, not just in APTN but in other national v Á•Œ}\mu s • Á]šZ v /v ]P v)\mu• i}\muŒv o]•u v }uu\muv] š]}w• %RŒ£Œ Æ Á]}\mušo X_ •} •]P - ^ CE \mu š • Á]šZ v (}Œ u}Œ /v ]P v)\mu• i}\muŒv o]•u v }uu\muv] š]&C• ]v šZ ‰ \mu o] Œ ou Yt Nations University of Canada and the expansion of this program, \musgutide future leaders to greatness and help bring a P v\mu]v \muv Υš v ]vP }( šŒ ]š]}v o Iv}Åo P š}‰ \mu o] • ŒÅ] X_ - -
```